Today's Program – Camp RYLA Kids

At today's meeting we are honored to have some of the young men and women that our club sponsored to attend Camp RYLA early this summer. Charles Parker and Jessica Wellman from McKinney North High School; and Ashton Gelat and Juan Carillo from McKinney Boyd High School. They are here to tell us a little bit about what they experienced at camp RYLA and what they gained from the experience. Having heard a few of the stories as Bryan and I returned them back from camp only confirmed that we selected the right group of kids to attend. Unfortunately Juan will be unable to join us as he is visiting family in South America. We look forward to hearing some great stories.

Today's Thoughts in Honor of ....

National Sarcoma Awareness Week July 12-20

If children have the ability to ignore all odds and percentages, then maybe we can all learn from them. When you think about it, what other choice is there but to hope? We have two options, medically and emotionally: give up, or Fight Like Hell.

Lance Armstrong

Cancer patients are lied to, not just because the disease is (or is thought to be) a death sentence, but because it is felt to be obscene -- in the original meaning of that word: ill-omened, abominable, repugnant to the senses.

Susan Sontag

A man who just died is delivered to a Kentucky mortuary wearing an expensive, expertly tailored black suit.

Bubba, the mortician asks the deceased's wife how she would like the body dressed.

He points out that the man does look very good in the black suit he is already wearing.

The widow however, says that she always thought her husband looked his best in blue, and that she wants him in a blue suit.

She gives Bubba a blank check and says, "I don't care what it costs, but please have my husband in a blue suit for the viewing."

The woman returns the next day for the viewing.

To her delight she finds her husband dressed in a gorgeous blue suit with a subtle chalk stripe; the suit fits him perfectly.

She says to Bubba, "Whatever the cost, I'm very satisfied. You did an excellent job and I'm very grateful. How much did you spend?"

To her astonishment, Bubba presents her with the blank check. "there's no charge," he says.

"No, really, I must pay you for the cost of that exquisite blue suit!" she says.

"Honestly, ma'am," Bubba says, "it didn't cost me a thing".

You see, a deceased gentleman of about your husband's size was brought in shortly after you left yesterday, and he was wearing an attractive blue suit.

I asked his misses if she minded him going to his grave wearing a black suit instead, and she said it made no difference as long as he looked nice."

"So, I just switched the heads." Bubba said.
